

One of the most unusual marine photographs ever taken, the burning of the Northern Pacific off Cape May last week. This fleet transport had a remarkable career, carrying thousands of our boys overseas and bringing home other thousands. At one time she was almost wrecked on Fire Island beach, being aground there several days. Photo taken by Wm. B. Parham, Jr.

Capt. S. Chase of the steamship Transportation. He stood by the blazing Northern Pacific and took off her crew in a heavy sea. Wide World.

A beauty in a bevy of beauties is Irene Marcellus of the "Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic," New York's great beauty show.

Archbishop Hayes from a valuable miniature painted by the famous Gustave Brock, now on exhibition at the Ehrlich Galleries.

Dr. Richard Derby, son-in-law of the late Col. Roosevelt, who has been appointed manager of the State Hospital at Kings Park, L. I., an important post, where his talents will find wide scope. Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

One of the prominent young women of New York at Palm Beach this season is Miss Helen Simon, pictured here. Wide World.

Part of $3,000,000 worth of drugs, opium layouts, etc., seized by the Narcotic Squad of the New York Police Department under Dr. Carleton Simon. The entire outfit was burned in the furnace at headquarters. Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Betty Blythe as she appears in "Fair Lady," a film based on Rex Beach's novel, "The Net."

